By Christine Parkinson

Authors OnLine Ltd. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 320 pages. Dimensions: 8.5in. x 5.5in. x 0.7in. This is a story about a journey within a journey: an inner journey and an outer journey, both set in the context of urban mission. The inner journey provides the meat of the narrative, whilst the outer journey provides colour, excitement, intrigue and drama. The stimulus for the outer journey arises from the authors experiences in living out her Christian faith in the inner city of Birmingham UK, as part of a church-based community project; this has raised issues and dilemmas that she needs to resolve, especially the Churchs reponse to women in leadership. She decides to visit other women involved in urban mission, across the world, to see their work and to talk to them about their experiences of male oppression within the Church. In addition to womens leadership, she examines the issues of personal poverty (and indeed, the double poverty of Mother Teresas Missionaries of Charity); the true nature of forgiveness and whether it can occur without confronting, and gaining acknowledgement of, inherent injustice in a situation; and, the challenge of the Three Degrees of Humility in urban situations. The issues are...
