Excerpt from The Political Memoranda of Francis Fifth Duke of Leeds: Now First Printed From the Originals in the British Museum; Edited, Together With Other Papers, and With Notes, Introduction, and Appendix The Political Memoranda of Francis fifth Duke of Leeds form part of the valuable collection of the Osborne papers preserved in the British Museum. They are contained in five paper books of the size 6 1/2 inches by 7 3/4 inches, four note books, with marbled covers, 4 inches by 7 1/2 inches, and one 4 inches by 6 1/2 inches. There are also included some detached memoranda, which are preserved on loose paper of different sizes. Besides the volume containing the memoranda there are eight volumes of official correspondence from which papers have been selected which either form part of the memoranda or should evidently be classed with them. The sale catalogue preserved in the Museum shows that the Political Memoranda were purchased on July 11, 1868, for 11 l1s.: a second instalment of the papers was purchased on April 5, 1869.
